Brian Vallée has had a varied career as a writer, editor, producer and director. He was a journalist on newspapers in England, the United States and Canada. After a five-year stint with two Toronto newspapers, Mr. Vallée joined the CBC's award-winning documentary program The Fifth Estate where he spent ten years. Since leaving the CBC, Mr. Vallée has produced and directed several documentaries.

His first non-fiction book, the best-selling Life With Billy, is about Jane Stafford, an abused wife who took the law into her own hands. The Stafford case led to the Battered Wife Syndrome as a legitimate defence.

His latest work, The War on Women (2007), reveals that the killing of women by the intimate men in their lives continues unabated and that in this war, the fallen are more likely to be ignored than honoured.
